NORTH AMERICA SCIENCE DAY
Monday, 27 October 2014, 15.00 – 18.00
University of Zurich,
Main Building, KO2 F175

Join us for the first North America Science Day, organized by The Swiss Science Network in North America – as part of the State Secretariat of Education, Research and Innovation – together with the University of Zurich. Listen to first-hand experiences from top academics as well as start-up entrepreneurs and their successful collaboration in the USA or Canada, learn about funding opportunities and meet with the swissnex and Science Offices to discuss ideas and possibilities.

swissnex Boston, swissnex San Francisco as well as the Swiss Science Offices Washington DC and Ottawa will present updates and introduce ways to increase your impact in collaborating with the USA and Canada. The areas for added value include access to top-ranked universities and research institutions, current programs and fellowships, internship opportunities and international Alumni chapters.
